

FRESH SCOOP

WELCOME, READERS

Welcome to the first edition of Fresh Scoop, where you'll find the latest in veterinary research from Morris Animal Foundation. Get the scoop on pet health advances that will impact your practice today, and shape veterinary medicine tomorrow!

A COMMON PAIN MEDICATION MAY NOT BE PROVIDING PAIN RELIEF

Tramadol was shown to be ineffective at alleviating signs of pain associated with osteoarthritis

GOLDEN RETRIEVER LIFETIME STUDY- GET READY TO GET SCHOOLED

Join Drs. Kelly Diehl and Missy Simpson to learn more about this groundbreaking study, what we hope to learn about canine cancer and other diseases, and the clinical implications for you.

LISTEN:

ARE LONGER CASTS THE ANSWER?

Reduce the risk of pressure sores and soft tissue complications by considering a longer cast for your canine patients.

READ MORE

A TREATMENT BREAKTHROUGH CHANGES THE APPROACH FOR EQUINE MELANOMA

The canine melanoma vaccine is being used to treat equine melanoma and the results are impressive.

READ MORE

YOU SAY HEPADNAVIRUS WE SAY, THE SAME THING

The finding may shed light on feline liver diseases, including cancer, as researchers dig deeper.

READ MORE

PUBLICATIONS YOU MIGHT HAVE MISSED BUT WE THINK ARE WORTH A READ

How are veterinarians prescribing pain medication for cats with osteoarthritis?

What's reducing the sensitivity of urinary tract infection culture testing?

Screening for drug-resistant E. coli in a clinical setting.

DROP BY, SAY HI AND LEARN WHAT WE'RE UP TO

DEC 1-5: AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF EQUINE PRACTITIONERS, SAN FRANCISCO

DEC. 13-16: FETCH VET + PET, SAN DIEGO

